Editable Activity Book

This Activity Book contains activity pages that accompany the lessons from the Unit 4 Teacher Guide. The activity pages are organized and numbered according to the lesson number and the order in which they are used within the lesson. For example, if there are two activity pages for Lesson 4, the first will be numbered 4.1 and the second 4.2. The Activity Book is a student component, which means each student should have an Activity Book.

Family Letter

Dear Family Members,

Please help your student succeed in spelling by taking a few minutes each evening to review the words together. Helpful activities for your student to do include: spelling the words orally, writing sentences using the words, or simply copying the words.

Spelling Words

This week, we will be reviewing the spellings of r-controlled vowels. Your student learned to read and spell words with r-controlled vowels in first and second grades, so this should be a review. Your student will be assessed on these words.

Students have been assigned two Challenge Words, above and beginning, to spell this week. Remember that Challenge Words do not follow spelling patterns and need to be memorized.

New this week is the introduction of a Content Word. The Content Word for this week is Mediterranean. This word is directly related to the material that we are reading. The Content Word is an optional spelling word for your student. If your student would like to try spelling it but gets it wrong, it will not count against them on the assessment. We encourage all students to stretch themselves a bit to try to spell this word.

The spelling words, including the Challenge Words and the Content Word, are listed below:

1. tarnish	12. sword
2. marbles	13. messenger
3. portion	14. barbecue
4. motor	15. giraffe
5. circulate	16. slurp
6. servant	17. sir
7. turkey	18. mirth
8. doctor	Challenge Word: above
9. worship	Challenge Word: beginning
10. surgery	Content Word: Mediterranean
11. immortal

Student Reader

This week, we start our new unit about ancient Rome. In this unit, your student will read Stories of Ancient Rome, which includes information about the history of Rome, legends, Roman gods and goddesses, myths, powerful rulers, and wars, as well as the rise of Christianity. Mrs. Teach well is the narrator who will be guiding your student through the information, some of which is fiction and some nonfiction, as your student learns many new and exciting facts about one of the great civilizations. Be sure to ask your student each evening about what they are learning.

This week, your student will be reading about the building of Rome on the banks of the Tiber River, the legend of Romulus and Remus, and Roman gods and goddesses.

“This is Rome,” said Mrs. Teachwell, pointing to a black dot on the classroom map.

“But this is Rome, too,” she added, as she traced a circle that was so large it seemed to touch all four sides of the map.

The students looked confused.

“How can it be both?” Charlie Chatter shouted out.

“I’ll explain,” Mrs. Teachwell said, “but please raise your hand if you would like to speak.”

Charlie Chatter nodded. It was not the first time he had heard this. In fact, Mrs. Teachwell had asked him to raise his hand many times, but it was hard for Charlie. His mouth seemed to be faster than his hand.

“Rome started out as a little town along the Tiber River,” Mrs. Teachwell explained.

“Like Egypt on the Nile?” Charlie asked.

“Yes,” said Mrs. Teachwell, “but let’s see that hand!”

The students giggled.

“As Charlie has just reminded us,” Mrs. Teachwell said, “many civilizations sprang up along the banks of a river. Rome was no exception. It sprang up here, on the banks of the Tiber River, among seven hills. At first, Rome was just a few houses on a hill. Then, it grew and grew and grew. After a while, people started building houses on other hills nearby. Then, the little towns on the hills grew together to make a big city. In fact, to this day, Rome is known as the ‘City of Seven Hills.’

“Then, the Romans fought wars with their neighbors. The Romans won most of these wars. They defeated the Etruscans, who lived north of them. They conquered the Greeks, who had settled to the south, as well. It wasn’t long before they controlled most of this piece of land that we call Italy.”

Mrs. Teachwell traced the outline of Italy with her finger.

“Check it out!” Charlie Chatter shouted. “Italy looks like a boot!”

“Yes,” said Mrs. Teachwell. “Italy does look like a boot, but, please, Charlie, raise your hand! This is your last warning. Now, does anyone know what this body of water that the boot of Italy sticks out into is called?”

Rachel Readmuch, who always had her nose in a book, raised her hand. Mrs. Teachwell called on her.

“It’s called the Mediterranean,” said Rachel.

“That’s right!” said Mrs. Teachwell. “This is the Mediterranean Sea. Rome grew so much that, at its peak, the Romans controlled all the land around the Mediterranean Sea. They took over most of Spain and France. They took over this area that we call the Balkans. They took over Greece and much of Turkey. They took over the Middle East, Egypt, and the coast of North Africa.”

Tim Timetable, who loved to learn about when things happened, put up his hand.

“When was all this happening?”

“Rome started growing about 2,500 years ago,” Mrs. Teachwell explained. “It started growing about 500 years before the birth of Jesus, in the years we call BCE. It was still growing when Jesus was born. In fact, Jesus was born here, in a part of the Middle East that was controlled by the Romans.”

Tim Timetable made a note of the date.

Mrs. Teachwell went on: “We will be studying Rome for three weeks or so. Each day, we will have a report on a topic connected to ancient Rome. I’ll give the first few reports. Then, each of you can do some research and give the next few. How does that sound?”

The kids cheered. They were eager to learn more about Rome. Rachel Readmuch already knew quite a lot. Tim Timetable had lots of questions about what happened when. As for Charlie Chatter, he was looking forward to the day when he would get to give his report. Then, he would get to talk without having to raise his hand first!

The Legend of Romulus and Remus

We learned last time that Rome started as a small town and grew to become a big city. Then, it grew some more until it became a great empire. That's what historians tell us.

The Romans themselves have a story about how their city got started that they like to tell. They say that Rome was founded by twins who had been saved by a wolf.

The twins were named Romulus and Remus. They were the children of a woman named Rhea Silvia and the god Mars. Their mother loved them, but her brother, the king of Latium, did not. He saw the boys as a threat. He thought they might grow up and take his crown from him. The king told one of his servants to find the twins and drown them in the Tiber River.

The servant found the twins, but he could not bring himself to drown them. Instead, he put the boys in a basket. Then, he set the basket in the river. The basket floated downstream. It drifted and drifted until, at last, it washed up on the banks of the river.

A she-wolf found the twins. She saw that they were hungry. She took them to her cave. There she gave them the same milk she fed to her wolf pups.

Later, the twins were adopted by a shepherd. The shepherd raised them well. They grew up to be smart and strong.

When they were 18, Romulus and Remus decided to create a city of their own. They wanted to build a city on the banks of the Tiber, somewhere among the seven hills, not far from where they had washed ashore as babies.

Soon, however, the brothers began to fight.

“Let’s build our city here!” said Romulus, pointing to a hill.

“No!” said Remus. “This hill over here is a much better spot.”

So each brother started building his own city on a different hill. Each knew that it would be important to have a strong wall to protect the city he was building. After a few days, Remus decided to visit Romulus to see how his city was coming along. It takes a long time to build a city, so Remus did not expect Romulus’s city to be finished. He decided, however, to taunt his brother, and he made fun of his unfinished wall. “You call that a wall?” he said. “That wall would not keep anyone out!” Then, to make his point, he stepped over the wall.

That made Romulus angry. He and Remus started to fight. No longer remembering that they were fighting one another, Romulus and Remus battled with all their might. Suddenly, Remus collapsed, fell to the ground, and died. When Romulus saw what he had done, he began to cry. He had not wished to kill his brother. He dug a grave for Remus.

Romulus went on building his city. He named it Rome after himself.

The rest, as they say, is history. Rome grew and grew. It became a great city, the center of a mighty empire.

The government of Rome made coins. The coins showed two young boys reaching up to touch a she-wolf. The people of Rome handed these coins back and forth. They used them to buy food and drinks. They used them to pay bills and buy clothing. And all of them knew who the two boys on the coin were: they were Romulus and Remus, the legendary founders of Rome.

Oh, To Be a Prince Again!

Once upon a time an ugly, green creature named Fred the Frog sat hopeful that his princess would come along and give him a magic kiss, so he could once again be a handsome prince. He sat all day looking up and down the road awaiting his princess! “I _____ SO ugly!” he moaned. “Why won’t my princess come to give me a kiss?” Fred the Frowning Frog looked at the other frogs in the pond and said, pitifully, “All of you _____ hideous!” He then turned his back on the other frogs and fretted.

Fred the Fretting, Frowning Frog shouted to the trees, the flowers, and anything else that would listen, “A prince should not have to wait so long! You trees and flowers _____ not helpful at all! Can’t you send for my princess? This _____ taking too long!”

Just then, along came a grand carriage carrying his princess. Fred the Faithful, Forward-Looking Frog hopped to the middle of the road and stood up tall and important (and hopefully regal) as he said, “Oh my princess, you _____ just in time! The other frogs in this pond _____ driving me crazy! Come give me a kiss so I can change back into your handsome prince.”

Paula the Pretty Princess kissed Fred the Festive Frog and he magically transformed into Peter the Proud Prince. They lived happily ever after.

Futbol for All

Did you know the game of futbol is very old? Different forms of it have been played in ancient China, Japan, Greece, and Rome. Today, it is played in many countries and is the most popular sport in the world. Futbol is the best sport because it is fun, anyone can play it, and it is played all year long.

People have enjoyed kicking balls around with their feet for thousands of years because it is fun! In futbol, the idea is to get the ball into a net mainly by kicking it without using your hands. This is not always easy to do, but players have fun trying. When they score, they feel happy, and so do the fans. Everyone has a good time!

Anyone—rich kids or poor, city kids or country, big kids or little—can play futbol. All they need is a ball and something to mark the goals. The game can be played anywhere as long as the ground is flat and the weather is good.

Futbol is played somewhere in the world all year long. Futbol leagues everywhere have their own seasons and championships. The most important championship in the world is the World Cup. It is played every four years. The winner of the World Cup is considered the best team in the whole world, which is quite an honor, wouldn't you say?

Futbol is the favorite sport of millions of children and adults around the world. Fans and players like the game because it is fun. Anyone can play it. Futbol is played all year long. No wonder futbol is the best sport!

Family Letter

Dear Family Members,

Please help your student succeed in spelling by taking a few minutes each evening to review the words together. Helpful activities for your student to do include: spelling the words orally, writing sentences using the words, or simply copying the words.

Spelling Words

This week, we will be reviewing two spellings for the sound of /ee/. Your student learned how to read and spell words with these patterns in Grades 1 and 2, so this should be a review. Your student will be assessed on these words.

Students have been assigned two Challenge Words, except and follow. Challenge Words are words used very often. These Challenge Words do not follow spelling patterns and need to be memorized. These two words will be on the assessment.

The Content Word for this week is Psyche. This word is directly related to the material that we are reading and also follows the vowel patterns your student is reviewing. The Content Word is an optional spelling word for your student. If your student would like to try it but gets it incorrect, it will not count against them on the test. We encourage everyone to stretch themselves a bit and try to spell this word.

The spelling words, including the Challenge Words and the Content Word, are listed below:

1. Greeks	12. jamboree
2. meter	13. speech
3. Venus	14. degree
4. asleep	15. retail
5. secret	16. screech
6. agreed	17. scenic

Write a Response to “Cupid and Psyche, Part 1”

Reading Excerpt from “Cupid and Psyche, Part 1”

Venus went to her son, Cupid.

“My son,” she said, “punish that girl! Shoot her with one of your arrows. Make her fall in love with the ugliest man on Earth.”

Cupid set off to do his mother’s bidding. He took his bow and arrow and flew down to Earth. He took aim at Psyche. At the last minute, though, his finger slipped. Instead of shooting Psyche, he pricked himself. So Cupid fell in love with Psyche.

Cupid came up with a plan that would let him visit Psyche in secret. He sent a message to Psyche’s family. It said that the gods had chosen a husband for Psyche. Psyche was ordered to climb to the top of the mountain, where she would meet her husband. She was also told that her husband was not a man but a terrible monster.

Writing Prompt:

Explain why Cupid had to visit Psyche in secret. Include exact details to show why you think he had to visit Psyche in secret or why he didn't need to visit her in secret but did so anyway.

Pompeii

Pompeii is the worst natural disaster in the history of the world. On August 24th in the year 79 CE, the people of Pompeii woke up and went to work. In the distance, the people of Pompeii could see the top of Mount Vesuvius. The mountain was like an old friend. But this friend had a terrible secret. The people of Pompeii did not know that Mount Vesuvius was actually a volcano. Around midday, the ground began to tremble and shake. Boom! Flames and smoke burst from the top of Mount Vesuvius. Flakes of ash and bits of rock called pumice showered down. Many people tried to run away. The people of Pompeii could not outrun it. It swept over them and wiped out the city. The volcano erupted for 19 hours. The city of Pompeii was buried. For more than 1,500 years, the city lay beneath the ash. Today, much of Pompeii has been excavated, or dug up. The eruption of Mount Vesuvius was a disaster for the people who lived in Pompeii. But it was a marvelous thing for historians who study the past. By visiting Pompeii and studying the city, historians have learned a great deal about life in ancient Rome.

Dear Family Members,

Please help your student succeed in spelling by taking a few minutes each evening to review the words together. Helpful activities for your student to do include: spelling the words orally, writing sentences using the words, or simply copying the words.

Spelling Words

This week, we will be reviewing four spellings for the sound of /ee/. Your student learned how to read and spell words with these patterns in second grade, so this should be a review. Your student will be assessed on these words.

Students have been assigned two Challenge Words, again and often. Challenge Words are words used very often. These Challenge Words do not follow spelling patterns and need to be memorized.

The Content Word for this week is Caesar. This word is directly related to the material that we are reading and is a rare spelling that your student is reviewing. The Content Word is an optional spelling word for your student. If your student would like to try it but gets it incorrect, it will not count against them on the test. We encourage all students to stretch themselves a bit and try to spell this word.

The spelling words, including the Challenge Words and the Content Word, are listed below:

1. gladiator	12. zombie
2. grease	13. leader
3. grief	14. chief

4. Type one sentence explaining why the Roman Empire split into two parts.

Justinian Image Comparison

Look at the two images of the emperor Justinian from our listening and reading today. Compare the different images used to support the text.

“The Western and Eastern Empires”

The Byzantine emperor of the Eastern Roman Empire, Justinian, raised a mighty army and marched west to reconquer the western province. As emperor, he developed Roman laws called the Justinian Code. The Justinian Code was a collection of past laws from previous emperors, in addition to laws he developed himself. The Justinian Code is one of Justinian’s major accomplishments as emperor. The Byzantine Empire continued for almost 1,000 years in the east.

Justinian appears second from the left in this mosaic, which you can see today in an Italian church.

“The Second Rome: From Constantine to Justinian”

Justinian also completed an important book project. He had scholars gather up all the laws that had been passed in the Roman Empire over the years. What the scholars found was a big mess. There were so many laws, nobody could possibly keep track of them all. There were old laws that no longer made sense. There were even laws that seemed to be the opposite of one another. One law might say, “It is illegal to do X.” Then, another law might say, “It’s perfectly fine to do X.” Justinian had his scholars gather up all the laws, sort them out, and organize them. When they were done, they published the laws. The new, organized laws filled several books. The new organized laws were known as the Justinian Code.

1. Reread the paragraph from “The Western and Eastern Empires.” How does the image help support your understanding?

2. What other image(s) could the author use to support the text?

3. Reread the paragraph from “The Second Rome: From Constantine to Justinian.” How does the image help support your understanding?

How Horatius Held the Bridge

In the early days of the Roman Republic, Rome was in danger. King Tarquin's son, Sextus, went into an area north of Rome. He helped an Etruscan king raise a huge army. Then, the two of them set off to attack Rome. The men of Rome had a meeting. They decided there was only one way to save the city: tear down the bridge over the Tiber River. If the Romans could tear the bridge down, the Etruscans would not be able to cross the river and enter the city. The consul spoke to the people. "Which of you," he asked, "will stand forth against the Etruscans while we tear down the bridge?" The bravest man in the history of the Roman Empire stepped forward, Horatius. Two more men came forward to join Horatius. The Etruscans laughed when they saw the three Romans blocking their way on the bridge. They sent their best warriors into battle. The Romans tossed the Etruscans off the bridge. The bridge began to totter. Horatius tried to cross, but the bridge fell before he could get across. Then, he jumped into the river. He nearly drowned. But, in the end, he made it across the river, back to Rome, where he was welcomed as a hero. The people of Rome made a statue of Horatius to honor him. His statue is probably the most famous statue in all of Rome.

1. What is the author's opinion about Horatius? How can you tell?

2. Do you agree with the author? Why or why not?

3. What are two facts in the article?

4. What are two opinions in the article?

Take-Home Work

The Second Rome: From Constantine to Justinian

Constantine was the first Roman emperor to support Christianity. He issued an order that made it illegal to put Christians to death, or even throw them in jail.

Constantine built churches all over the empire. He built one in Bethlehem, where Jesus was born. He built another in Jerusalem, where Jesus died. He built churches in Rome and in the ancient city of Byzantium, in present-day Turkey. Byzantium was Constantine's favorite city. He adopted it and renamed it Constantinople. His goal was to turn the city into a "new Rome," a sort of Rome away from Rome.

Constantine did not want Constantinople to replace Rome. He hoped that Constantinople would take its place beside Rome and that the two cities would survive, side by side, for many years. He wanted Rome and Constantinople to be like two mighty pillars supporting the Roman Empire. But, in the end, one of those pillars collapsed.

One of the emperors who came after Constantine decided his job was just too big. He felt that the Roman Empire was too large to be ruled by any one man. So, he split the empire into two parts. He declared that the western half of the Empire would be ruled by one emperor, based in Rome; the eastern half would be ruled by a second emperor, based in Constantinople.

Not long after the empire was divided, invaders from the North began attacking the Western Empire. Things got worse and worse. The invaders even attacked Rome itself. Finally, the western part of the Roman Empire collapsed.

The Eastern Empire, based in Constantinople, had better luck. It lived on, and for a while, even got stronger.

Most historians agree that the Eastern Empire was at its best during the reign of Justinian. Justinian came into power in the year 527 CE. That is, he became emperor 527 years after the birth of Jesus and about 200 years after Constantine decided to support Christianity.

Like Constantine before him, Justinian was a Christian. He spent lots of money building churches. In Constantinople, he built the church of Hagia Sophia [ho-GEE-ə Soe-FEE-yə], with its magnificent, soaring dome.

Justinian also completed an important book project. He had scholars gather up all the laws that had been passed in the Roman Empire over the years. What the scholars found was a big mess. There were so many laws, nobody could possibly keep track of them all. There were old laws that no longer made sense. There were even laws that seemed to be the opposite of one another. One law might say, “It is illegal to do X.” Then, another law might say, “It’s perfectly fine to do X.” Justinian had his scholars gather up all the laws, sort them out, and organize them. When they were done, they published the laws. The new, organized laws filled several books. The new organized laws were known as the Justinian Code.

Scene 1—In a cave in the forest

Narrator 1

Thousands of years ago, there was an enslaved person named Androcles who lived in ancient Rome. Every day, Androcles was sent by his master out to the fields with the other enslaved people. There, they spent the entire day in the blistering hot sun, tending the master's crops. Only when dusk fell at the very end of the day did they return to the enslaved quarters where they lived. Each night, after a meal of stale bread and water, they fell exhausted on the hard floor and went to sleep.

Narrator 2

One day when it was time to return from the fields, Androcles did not follow the other enslaved people. As the others went back to their quarters, Androcles hid at the edge of the field. When it was dark, he ran as fast as he could, far into the forest. When he could run no more, he happened upon a small cave. He crept inside into the cool darkness and fell asleep.

Lion (roaring several times, but then whimpering in pain)

Rrrrrroarrrr . . . Rrrrrroarrrr . . . Rrrrrroarrrr . . . owowowow!

Androcles (voice shaking)

Who's there? Where are you?

Lion (roars two more times in pain)

Help me! Help me—here!

Androcles (voice still shaking)

Whoa! How can I help you?

Lion (limps toward Androcles and lifts his front paw)

Just help me. My paw, my paw—please help me.

NAME: _____

Androcles (crouches carefully next to the lion, lifting his paw)

Well, let me take a look. Aha! I see what the problem is. There is a very large thorn stuck in your paw. Hold very still and I will pull it out.

(Androcles gently pulls the thorn out of the lion's paw.)

Lion

Oooooowww . . . ahhhhhhh—that's much better. Thank you.

(Lion rubs up against Androcles and purrs.)

Narrator 1

That was the beginning of a warm friendship between Androcles and the lion. They lived together in the cave. They slept side by side, keeping each other warm.

Narrator 2

Then one day, a group of Roman soldiers on patrol stumbled upon the cave where they discovered Androcles. Roman law said that runaway enslaved people must be punished. So, the soldiers dragged Androcles out of the cave and back to the city of Rome.

Narrator 1

Androcles was taken to jail. He was left alone in a cell for ten days with little to eat or drink. On the tenth day, the jailer came to tell him that he would be taken to the Colosseum that afternoon. Androcles knew that could mean only one thing: he would be forced to fight to death against gladiators or vicious, wild animals.

Scene 2—The Colosseum

(The emperor and crowd stand in a circle as if seated at the Colosseum. Androcles enters the center of the circle from one side.)

Crowd (chanting Androcles' name as he enters the circle)

Androcles! Androcles! Androcles!

Lion (shakes mane and roars loudly as he enters the circle from the other side)

Rrrrrroarrrr . . . Rrrrrroarrrr . . . Rrrrrroarrrr!

Crowd (turns and looks at the lion and cheers loudly)

Emperor

Let the games begin!

(Androcles and the lion approach each other with heads down, ready to fight. Then, both look up and stare into each other's eyes.)

Lion (purrs loudly and rubs up against Androcles' leg)

Purrrrr . . . rrrrrr . . . rrrrr.

Androcles (bends forward to hug the lion)

Roman Architecture Is All Around

Architecture is the most important contribution of the Roman Empire to our world. Architecture is the design or style of a building. People go to Rome just to see its ancient buildings. Many of the old building elements are also seen in American buildings. The Colosseum, arches, and aqueducts of the ancient Romans remain today.

The Roman Colosseum was like a big sports stadium. Roman fans watched people fighting each other or animals. Sometimes, the fighters or animals died! Even so, modern football stadiums are built much like the Colosseum. They are round in shape and seat many fans.

The Romans were one of history’s most creative people. They used arches in many of their buildings and bridges. The arch is a rounded shape at the top of windows or doorways that allows them to be very wide. The curved stone wedges in an arch offer strong support. Arches are seen today in churches, libraries, and government buildings.

The Romans invented the aqueduct. The aqueduct consists of a channel supported by arches. It uses gravity and pipes to move water from high in the mountains to the city that lies on lower ground. The United States has some of the world’s largest aqueducts. They supply water to the country’s biggest cities. The Colorado River Aqueduct provides the Los Angeles area with water carried from the Colorado River, more than 701.5 miles away!

Take a look around, and you might see the influence of the Roman Empire on the buildings in the place you live. Arches, aqueducts, and Colosseum-like stadiums may be present in your very own community!

Directions: Read the article “Let’s Learn Latin!” and then follow your teacher’s directions.

Let’s Learn Latin!

The greatest contribution of the Roman Empire is the Latin language. The ancient Romans conquered many new lands and people. As they did, the Latin language spread quickly. Defeated tribes in Italy took on Latin because it was the dominant language. Some features of the Latin language are still present today. Many countries in Europe speak a mixed version of Latin. The English language uses the Latin writing system.

As the Latin language spread, various forms were spoken around the western world. Latin mixed with other languages. It quickly became known as the language of the educated. Today, the people in Italy, Spain, France, Portugal, and Romania use languages that are tied directly to Latin.

The English language also has ties to Latin. Many English language root words, prefixes, and suffixes come from the language. Many medical words have Latin origins. Students can use their knowledge of root words to help decode new vocabulary words, such as medical terms and other unknown words.

The Roman Empire made many lasting contributions to the modern world. The Latin language is clearly the greatest contribution because it is still used today.

Rome’s Lasting Contributions

Roman army

What made the Roman civilization so memorable? You might think that it was their army. That is partly true. The army did expand the Roman Empire to include many different lands and groups of people. But it is not the whole truth.

Roman aqueduct

Engineering also made the Romans memorable. Engineering is the ability to invent and build things. Romans built strong city walls, bridges, and roads. They built aqueducts, sewers, heating systems, and public baths. They also made other impressive creations. These Roman feats of engineering helped them hold on to their power and expand their empire.

Children running through a Roman street

The people of Rome made it memorable, too. The Romans were one of the most advanced civilizations in the world at the time. This was in a time when farms, villages, or cities could be destroyed at any time by terrifying enemies. Instead, the Romans brought law, order, and security to many people. Roman technology and knowledge made everyone’s lives easier and healthier. The Romans set up markets and ports to trade goods from all over the world. These actions helped Roman culture thrive even after the fall of the Roman Empire.

Roman children at their lessons

The Romans had a strong respect for knowledge and history. Roman artists and writers worked hard to record Rome’s history in art and words. Historians wrote about Rome’s wars and heroes. They wrote about its interesting politics.

A collage of Roman emperors

You learned about a few Roman leaders and emperors. Yet, there were more than 200 emperors. Each one had his own story. Some were brave and kind. Some were wicked and greedy. There are also stories about famous Roman generals, senators, philosophers, and even enemies. The best part is that so many of these stories were written by the Romans themselves. You could spend the rest of your life reading about ancient Rome and Romans!

Roman art

Roman artists left many clues about Roman history and culture. There are remains of sculptures, monuments, temples, mosaics, tools, weapons, and even entire cities such as Pompeii. These are scattered throughout the old Roman Empire. They have helped scientists get a good picture of what life was like in ancient Rome.

Catholic mass in cathedral

Perhaps Rome's most important legacy is the spread of the Latin language. A legacy is an important contribution to the world. The use of Latin continued in Europe long after the fall of the Western Roman Empire. No one speaks Latin as an everyday language today. However, it is still the official language of the Roman Catholic Church. If you attend a Roman Catholic mass, you might hear a priest say some prayers in Latin. Latin was also blended into the Romance languages. These languages include Italian, Spanish, and French, just to name a few. They are alike because they are all based on Latin.

Latin letters

The English writing system is based on the Latin writing system. It includes the very same letters you read and write each day. Many English words are made of Latin roots, prefixes, and suffixes. For hundreds of years, Latin was spoken by scholars, scientists, and others. In some cases, Latin is still being used to this day. If you become a doctor or scientist, you will need to know some Latin. Many scientific names—for everything from body parts to bugs—are based on Latin words.

Roman calendar

We can also thank the Romans for our modern calendar. They created their calendar as early as 750 BCE. It had only 10 months and 304 days in a year. Here are the months of the Roman calendar. Listen closely and see how many sound familiar to you:

Martius [mar-shee-us]

Aprilis

Maius [my-use]

Iunius [you-nee-use]

Quintilis

Sextilis

September

October

November

December

The names of the months we use now are similar to the names used by Romans almost 3,000 years ago! Later, the Roman calendar was replaced by the Julian calendar. It was named after Julius Caesar himself. This calendar had 12 months. It included January and February. Some of the months were named after important Roman gods. March was named after Mars, the god of war. Now we use the Gregorian calendar. It is very close to the Julian calendar. Pope Gregory XIII created it about 500 years ago in Italy. When this happened, some of the names of the months changed. Can you guess where the months of July and August got their names?

Grammar Review

See the “What is it? What was it? Riddles” below. In each case, change the verb tense of each sentence of the riddle to be either present tense or past tense, depending on which is missing.

Example:

What is it? Riddle (present tense)	What was it? Riddle (past tense)
It is in my bedroom. It has blankets and pillows on it. I sleep on it. I make it in the morning before school. It is comfortable.	It was in my bedroom. It had blankets and pillows on it. I slept on it. I made it in the morning before school. It was comfortable.
What is it? and What was it?	a bed

What is it? Riddle (present tense)	What was it? Riddle (past tense)
I kick it with my feet. It flies into the goal. It is black and white and round. I am not allowed to touch it with my hands. I play with it on Saturdays.	_____ _____ _____ _____ _____
What is it? and What was it?	_____

What is it? Riddle (present tense)	What was it? Riddle (past tense)
